Fentanyl: DEA Sounds Nationwide Alarm on Drug

The US Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) has issued a nationwide alert about the dangers of the narcotic fentanyl and fentanyl analogues/compounds.

According to the DEA, the drug, which is often used in anesthesia to prevent pain after surgery or other procedures, is commonly laced in heroin, causing significant problems across the country, particularly because heroin abuse has increased.

The DEA has also issued warnings to law enforcement agencies, owing to the fact that fentanyl can be absorbed through the skin, and accidental inhalation of airborne powder can occur. "

Fentanyl is extremely dangerous to law enforcement and anyone else who may come into contact with it.

DO NOT TOUCH THIS DRUG WITH BARE HANDS!!!
